Hello Berrendo Middle School Families,

We urge parents to supervise their children's social media and screen time closely. We have seen an increase in poor behavior which is often based on trouble that started on SnapChat or TikTok or through inappropriate text message conversations. TikTok challenges are becoming more popular among students but are generally dangerous and, sometimes, illegal. It's important that while your child is going through the difficult middle school social adjustment years you know who their friends are and what they're doing on their phones and online. Check their backpacks. Make them give up their phones at bedtime. Make them share their passwords with you. These parenting strategies can keep them safe from online predators and from their own naïve mistakes. Remind your child to get to an adult if they need help at school.

Le pedimos a los padres a que supervisen de cerca las redes sociales de sus hijos y el tiempo que pasan frente a la pantalla. Hemos visto un aumento en el mal comportamiento que a menudo se basa en problemas que comenzaron en SnapChat o TikTok o en conversaciones de mensajes de texto inapropiadas. Los desafíos de TikTok se están volviendo más populares entre los estudiantes, pero generalmente son peligrosos y, a veces, ilegales. Es importante que mientras su hijo atraviesa los difíciles años de adaptación social de la escuela secundaria, usted sepa quiénes son sus amigos y qué están haciendo en sus teléfonos y en línea. Revise sus mochilas. Haga que dejen sus teléfonos antes de acostarse. Haga que compartan sus contraseñas con usted. Estas estrategias de crianza pueden mantenerlos a salvo de los depredadores en línea y de sus propios errores ingenuos. Recuérdele a su hijo que debe acudir a un adulto si necesita ayuda en la escuela.
